Recommendation: Approve the dispensation.

Background: The City of Alamogordo entered into a location and use agreement with Fuel Industries, Inc. on May 28th, 2013. The purpose of this agreement was to provide Fuel Industries, Inc. with access to the Old Alamogordo Landfill for preparing, filming and recording of scenes and sounds for a documentary film that centers on the Old Alamogordo Landfill, the home to Atari's E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial video game, buried in the property in 1983.

Fuel Industries, Inc. has indicated a desire to obtain a number of the cartridges, if found, to distribute to the film team, the persons interviewed and others to be determined by Fuel Industries, Inc.

The City of Alamogordo, once the cartridges are uncovered, will remove and store the cartridges in a secure location for the possible marketing of the cartridges at a later date.

Staff recommends that a maximum of 100 of assorted Atari cartridges or 10% whichever is the lesser amount be distributed to Fuel Industries, Inc.
